Arkansas Industrial University.

FOR 1875—6.

ESTABLISHMENT AND AIMS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

This institution is established in accordance with an act of Congress, making a grant of land as an endowment for its benefit, and in accordance with an act of the General Assembly of this State, carrying out the object of said grant. According to the object of the grant, "the leading object shall be—without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics—to teach such branches of learning as are related to Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life;" or, changing the order of statement, the chief aim of the University is "the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life;" and in order to this end, the University is "to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics." Military tactics are required, and the scientific and classical studies are permitted. Such, at least, we believe, is the common construction of those clauses, though the language may not unreasonably be understood to imply that the latter studies shall not be excluded from the course. The aim of the University is to comply strictly with the acts of Congress and the General Assembly of this State in providing for and establishing it.

It proposes, therefore—

First—To impart a knowledge of science and its application to the arts of life.

Second—To afford to students, such as may desire it, the benefits of daily manual labor. This labor is to some degree remunerative. But its remunerative character is not so much intended to lessen the expenses of students as for educational uses, as it is planned and varied for the illustration of the principles of science. The preservation of health, and of a taste for the pursuits of agriculture and the mechanic arts, are two other important objects.

Third—To prosecute experiments for the promotion of agriculture and horticulture.

Fourth—To provide the means of instruction in military science; and to this end a skilled instructor and suitable implements have been obtained.

Fifth—To afford the means of a general and thorough education not inferior to those afforded to all classes in the best of colleges.

LOCATION.

The Arkansas Industrial University is pleasantly located within the corporate limits of the town of Fayetteville, Washington county. The location is thought to be unsurpassed by any other locality in the State in salubrity of climate, beauty of surrounding scenery, fertility of soil, variety and perfection of agricultural and horticultural productions, and the morality and intelligence of its people.

STUDIES.

By recent action of the Board of Trustees, all male beneficiaries who are hereafter appointed to the Arkansas Industrial University, will be required to take a course in Agriculture and Mechanics, "with permission to select such other studies as circumstances may allow." This regulation does not apply to students in the Normal Department. It is expected that each student shall take and carry on four distinct studies—not less than three under any circumstances; and no change in studies will be permitted after the beginning of a term without permission of the Faculty.

Heretofore, students who have been unable to pass the examination required for admission to the Normal Department, have been permitted to remain a year in the Preparatory Department. For the future no student will be permitted to enter the Normal School without undergoing the required examination, and thus passing at once to the work of that department.

By recent action of the Board of Trustees, the number of Normal students to which any county is entitled is made equal to the number of beneficiaries from said county. This regulation, however, does not exclude any one from the Normal School, who pays the regular tuition fees. The tabular statement on page 22 will show the number of beneficiaries, to which each county in the State is entitled. According to the last enumeration, the number of beneficiaries to which the State is entitled is 236—the number of Normal students will be the same. Considering the demand for trained teachers which exists in Arkansas, as well as the facilities for thorough and systematic training enjoyed in the University, may we not hope that each county will soon send its quota of Normal students? To give an idea of the growth and efficiency of the Normal Department, as well as its promise of usefulness to the State, it may be necessary to present a few facts connected with this branch. Organized in 1872, the first catalogue of the University shows a total of ten students in the Normal Department. Our catalogue for 1873—74 shows, as the entire number of Normal students, twenty-nine; while the last catalogue, 1874—75, shows fifty-six, or a gain of nearly one hundred per cent. on the previous year. And of the fifty-six, thirteen have been engaged in teaching since the close of the term in June; and this, too, without the advantages of a system of public schools.

These students, with a true love for the profession, and with a sense of obligation to the State for the blessing of free instruction, have gone out and asked for work, taking, as a general rule, small and unprofitable schools, from the fact that the stringency of the times and the absence of a school system have made lucrative positions impossible. While it is lamentably true that some, and not a few, have entered the Normal School merely for the purpose of avoiding tuition fees, and have shown, in this respect, a shameless violation of good faith, it is yet true that those who have engaged in teaching have as a general rule, exhibited the qualities of energy, zeal and a true love for the profession, as well as a commendable degree of efficiency. If the State will but provide the schools by the adoption of a liberal system of public instruction, we feel assured that we shall soon be able to send out from our Normal School such an array of trained workers that shall mark a new era in popular education in Arkansas.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The scholastic year of the University, with its several departments, will consist of three terms of thirteen weeks each. There will be a vacation of one week including the Christmas holidays, but no vacation between terms. It is especially desirable that all students should be present at the opening of the autumn term; if this is not possible, they should make all necessary preparations to be present at the beginning of the next term. All beneficiaries will understand that any unnecessary delay in entering the institution will lead to the forfeiture of their places.

CALENDAR FOR THE UNIVERSITY YEAR 1875—76.

The autumn term will commence on the 6th of September, 1875, and close on the 3d of December, 1875.

The winter term will commence on the 6th of December, 1875, and close on the 9th of March, 1876.

The spring term will commence on the 12th of March, 1876, and close on the 15th of June, 1876.

Commencement exercises will continue through the last week of the spring term. By act of the Legislature, the annual meeting of Board of Trustees is fixed on the Monday of Commencement week in each year.

LABOR.

Labor in the Arkansas Industrial University is not compulsory, but it is the opinion of the Board of Trustees, as well as of the Faculty, that manual labor is a good thing for the student—that a certain amount of work with the hands will enable him to do better the work of the brain. To the extent of our ability to furnish it, labor will be given to our students on the farm and grounds of the University. So far as our finances will permit, labor to the deserving student will be made remunerative—the rate of wages being fixed by the Board of Trustees at from five to ten cents per hour, according to the character of the work and the efficiency of the worker. Besides remunerative labor, that kind of labor which may be denominated educational—that which is designed for practical knowledge and instruction—will be encouraged, so that all may, as far as possible, secure the advantages of one or the other.

PROPERTY AND FUNDS.

The property of the University consists of the proceeds of the munificent grant of land by Congress, the bonds of Washington county and the town of Fayetteville, the appropriations made by the State, and the University farm and lands—amounting in all to $300,000 in value.

The bonds of the county of Washington, $100,000, and of the town of Fayetteville, $30,000, payable thirty years from date, with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, have, by the action of the Board of Trustees, become a portion of the permanent endowment of the University, and will be scrupulously held for that purpose.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

An experimental farm of excellent character has been provided, immediately contiguous to the University, for agricultural and horticultural purposes. The labor system will be voluntary, and students will not labor exceeding three hours per day, Saturdays excepted. Compensation for labor will be from five to ten cents per hour, according to ability.

APPOINTMENT OF BENEFICIARIES.

All appointments should be completed, if possible, before the opening of the autumn term. The county judges, who make the appointments, should prepare duplicate notifications of appointment, one of which will be forwarded to the President of the University, and one to the Secretary of the Board of Trustees; and in case the appointee fails to appear at the University within twenty days after the commencement of the autumn term (except in case of sickness), he will be regarded as having declined his appointment, in which case it will be the duty of the President of the Faculty to notify the person making the appointment of such failure, who will make another appointment as soon thereafter as possible, and such other appointee will be required to appear at the University on the first day of the next term. The President of the Faculty shall continue to notify appointing officers till their respective number of appointees make their appearance at the University.

NUMBER OF BENEFICIARIES.

It is provided in section eighteen of the act of the General Assembly establishing the University, that the Board of Trustees shall have power to "prescribe the grade and number of scholarships, and prescribe the rules by which scholars who are to be admitted free shall be elected equally from the various parts of the State." They have, therefore, made provisions for two hundred and thirty-seven beneficiaries, who will be entitled to four years' free tuition, and who are apportioned among the several counties according to their respective populations by the United States census of 1870, which apportionment is as follows :

TUITION.

Beneficiaries and normal students, upon entering the University, will be required to pay a matriculation fee of five dollars. This entitles them to free tuition for four years if beneficiaries, and three, if normal students.

Students other than beneficiaries and normal students, whether residents or non-residents of the State, will be charged fifteen dollars tuition per term in the Collegiate, and ten dollars per term in the Preparatory Department and Training School. This tuition is paid invariably in advance, by the term, at the office of the Secretary of the Board of Trustees, at Fayetteville.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

Provision has been made for instruction in military science and tactics, and all able-bodied male students will be required to drill twice a week.

A uniform has been prescribed, which will consist of a suit of cadet gray mixed cloth, of the color and quality worn at West Point, and a cap of dark blue cloth, ornamented in front with the initials A. I. U. surrounded by a silver wreath. Owing to the general stringency of the times, this uniform, with the exception of the cap, will not be required for the coming year, but students are urged to procure it, (which can be done at Fayetteville), as soon as their means will permit. The cap can be had at or near cost, on their arrival at the University. The suit, consisting of blouse and pants, will cost from $22.00 to $26.00; coat (frock) and pants, from $26.00 to $32.00.

A Commercial Course of two years has been organized, and students who complete it will be entitled, on payment of fees for diploma, to receive the degree of Bachelor of Commerce.

Normal Department.

By the act of the General Assembly carrying into effect the act of Congress making the grant for the Industrial University, it was provided that there should be a Normal Department therein. A Normal Department has been, therefore established in, or in connection with the University. This department is now fully in operation, and is designed to furnish a thorough course of instruction to all those who desire to engage in the profession of teaching in the public schools.

The courses of study and training in this department are separate and distinct from the University courses—the great aim being the education of teachers.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION.

Applicants for admission must be of good moral character, and must, if males, be sixteen, if females, fourteen years of age; they must also pass a satisfactory examination in the common English branches.

TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Primary Department of the University, as formerly conducted, has been dispensed with, and in lieu thereof a Training School has been established, which will be operated in conjunction with the Normal Department of the University, and under the immediate supervision of the Principal thereof. This Training School will have a preceptress in charge; and will also to some extent be taught by normal students, in the manner customary in the normal schools of the country. Care will be taken to see that proper instruction is given, and no pains will be spared to render this Training School as efficient in all respects as any other, for children.

Preparatory Department.

In view of the fact that the educational facilities of this State have been and are, with the exception of a few favored localities, such that young persons desirous of a collegiate or normal education have been and are unable properly and sufficiently to prepare themselves to enter the Industrial University or Normal School therein, there has been established, in connection with the University and Normal School, a Preparatory Department. This is intended to be auxiliary to the higher departments, and especially to prepare pupils who may enter it for those departments. This department is under the general supervision of the Faculty of the University and Normal Department. Beneficiaries who, upon an examination by the Faculty, may be found not qualified to enter the Industrial University, may be placed in the Preparatory Department as beneficiaries; but the time spent by them in this department will be deducted from the four years' free tuition to which they are entitled in the University by virtue of their appointments.

General Information.

Many letters have been received asking how a student can pay his way by labor—what our labor system is—what is the design of the Normal Department—what is the price of board, tuition, books, etc.

An attempt has been made to answer these inquiries in this circular, and one will be sent in reply to such letters hereafter, unless a written answer seems to be required.

Board, in private families, in Fayetteville, including fuel, light and washing, can be had for from $100 to $130 per scholastic year of nine months.

A beneficiary or Normal student pays $5.00 matriculation fee. After this his tuition is free.

All other students pay from $20.00 to $45.00 per year for tuition, and by recent action of the Board of Trustees this tuition is to be paid by the term, in advance, and hereafter no name is to be entered on the University rolls until the receipt of the Secretary, for his or her tuition, shall be presented.

All new students entering the Collegiate Department are required to pay a matriculation fee of $5.00.

The books used in the University can be bought in Fayetteville at publishers' prices. Students should bring with them such books as they have, for reference.

Students can wear such clothing here as they have been accustomed to at home. Cleanliness, neatness and comfort only will be required.

While it is true that several students have paid their way while in school by labor, it is not a safe dependence. It has been done by the closest economy and the most determined thrift.

The energy and economy necessary to carry such through their course should be used in the first place in providing a small amount of money to start with. An unlimited amount of remunerative labor cannot be promised, though as much as possible will be provided for such students as have a mind to use it to accomplish the two ends for which it is furnished.

The Normal Department is designed solely for the education of teachers; either those who have begun to teach, or young persons who desire to fit themselves for teaching. No one has a right to free tuition in this department who does not, in good faith and with proper motives, intend to make teaching his profession.

It is admitted that a doctor or lawyer should have some training or preparation to be successful in his profession, and schools for this purpose have been established. Thoughtful parents are beginning to feel that teachers also need preparation for their work, and they are demanding men and women of the best talents and character and the highest culture as the teachers of their children. It is to meet and encourage this want that the Normal Department is established.

DISCIPLINE.

If our students are to become valued and noble citizens they need to learn self government, and to conform their conduct to the laws of their country and to the usages of good society more than they need to learn science. Students must not expect to be governed, but to govern themselves. It is no part of the duty of the Faculty to act the part of policemen or spies upon the conduct of students. With the instructions they receive, those who care and try can be gentlemen. Those who do not care nor try, need not come, for they will not be permitted to remain as students.

It will not be enough for a student to order his conduct well during school days and while upon the college premises. The every-day life of the student must give evidence of growth in manly virtue and scholarly attainments. The widest personal freedom will be accorded to every one to do all that is good and right, and the fullest opportunity and the most abundant material possible will be furnished, but whatever is unmanly and lowers one's self-respect, will not be tolerated.

Loitering in the streets and shops, the contracting of debts, and the spending of money foolishly, the use of profane, indecent or ungentlemanly language, all forms of dissipation, the spending of time in any company whose influence does not lead to a higher and better life, are some of the things which must be avoided by students.

In short, we expect every student to see to it that every act of his does honor to himself and the University; to let his highest ambition and aim be to accomplish some noble purpose, both while a student and through life.

Absolute promptness in attendance and in the performance of all duties will be required, not more for the good of the school than for its value to the student as a habit.

Besides the regular work of the day, two or three hours of study at night will be required of adult students in good health.

Students should enter at the beginning of the year (September 7th), but if this is impossible they should enter at the beginning of some term, as classes cannot be formed during term-time.

All students will be required to enter upon some regular course of study, and they will not be permitted to depart from that course except for good reasons.

Absence, except for unavoidable causes, or leaving without the consent of the Faculty, will forfeit the student's membership.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Two literary societies, the "Clariosophic" and the "Mathetian," have been established. They are both sustained with great interest and furnish valuable aid in the intellectual training of the student.

LIBRARY.

The University library, though at this time small, comprises some valuable works. Additions will be made from time to time. All students have access to the library free of charge.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT.

For the practice of chorus singing two societies are organized—Euterpean and Philharmonic.

A class will be formed this year in the Primary Department for the purpose of teaching the elements of music.

Special instruction in vocal and instrumental music will be given, two lessons a week, by W. D. C. Botefuhr, Professor of Music, assisted by Miss Laura Botefuhr.

Tuition $15.00 per term for advanced and $10.00 per term for primary scholars, payable one-half in advance, balance at the end of each term.

Use of piano, one hour per day, $3.50 per term.

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Contributions are solicited for our library, reading room, laboratory and museum.

Any book, paper or manuscript of historical or other value;

Any piece of chemical, philosophical or mechanical apparatus;

Any ores, crystals, precious or valuable stones, vegetable or animal fossils, or any other thing that will be a source of information to our students, will be thankfully received.

We hereby designate and request County Superintendents of Public Schools to take charge of and forward to the University, by students or others who may be coming, any of the above named donations.

CABINET AND MUSEUM.

The collections in these are yet inconsiderable, but they are slowly increasing. The State Geologist has kindly consented to forward to the University duplicates of the specimens obtained by him, and in time this feature can be made of rare attractiveness.

APPARATUS.

The University will be supplied for the coming year with mathematical and philosophical apparatus, and additions will be made to the chemical department, which is already in efficient operation.

BAND.

A brass band of fourteen pieces, organized for special use, in connection with the military department of the University, and composed entirely of students, has already demonstrated its usefulness.

BRANCH NORMAL COLLEGE.

By an act of the Legislature, approved April 25, 1873, the organization of a Branch Normal College was provided for, and $25,000 were appropriated to carry the act into effect.

This appropriation was in State scrip, and owing to its depreciated value, the organization of the College has not yet taken place. At the meeting of the Board of Trustees, however, in July, 1874, a Special Committee, consisting of Trustees Jones, Johnson and Thompson, was appointed to carry this law into effect, and immediate steps will be taken to do so, locating this College, which is specially designed for colored students, somewhere in the Southern or Eastern portion of the State. [See Branch Normal College, Appendix.]

THE NEW BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

By an act of the Legislature of the State, approved May 30th, 1874, all the trusteeships of the University, as created by the act of the Legislature, approved March 27th, 1874, were vacated, and the Board of Trustees was made to consist, until otherwise provided by law, of Dudley E. Jones, L. Gregg, A. W. Dinsmore, James M. Johnson, M. F. Lake, Wood E. Thompson, J. C. Walker, the Governor of the State for the time being, and the President of the University.

GENERAL CONDUCT OF THE UNIVERSITY.

It is due to the authorities of the University, in explanation of the fact that agriculture and the mechanic arts have not yet been as fully taught as the acts of Congress contemplate, to make some reference to the condition of educational matters here, when the Arkansas Industrial University was organized. At that time, such was the disposition of the State to patronize the institution, and so great was and still is the demand throughout the State for general education, that the University came rapidly and from necessity to assume, in part, the form of an institution for general instruction. By the laws of the State, there is likewise attached to it a Normal Department, which it becomes our duty to develop, nevertheless, "Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts" will receive the full attention that the acts of Congress contemplate when many of the young men admitted into the institution, and who are the sons of farmers, shall have become more thoroughly grounded in the rudiments of general knowledge, the special training for mechanical and agricultural life then beginning.

Trustee Gregg, as Chairman of the Building Committee, submitted the following annual report:

ARKANSAS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY.)
FAYETTEVILLE, June 21, 1875.)

To the President and Members of the Board of Trustees of the Arkansas Industrial University:

Your Committee, in charge of the building, have the honor to report that the main building has progressed as well as we anticipated during the past year, and that the work is now so far advanced that it can easily be completed by the first of September next, the time designated by the contract.

Your Committee, acting under instructions given at the last annual meeting of the Board, in reference to the verbal contract made by the old Board of Trustees, or their Building Committee, for extra thickness of glass, stone, and brick work, for quoins, and for pressed brick, endeavored to carry the same out in good faith, and at the price our predecessors agreed to pay, it having been established by pay-roll evidence at the last annual meeting of the Board, to-wit: for extra thickness of glass, stone, and brick work, and for quoins $6,200, and for pressed brick, and for laying the same, $800. The latter item gave your Committee much trouble. The principal contractor would not assume authority to settle that bill, because, as he alleged, it had been made with sub-contractors, and the several sub-contractors made up their respective bills, amounting, in the aggregate, to about $1,000. Your Committee persistently refused to pay any amount above the $800, and that only on full receipts. After several months of cavil and threats of suits, the $800 was accepted and full acquittance given.

Your Committee would refer to the state of finance presented to the Board by our Secretary, showing the various estimates of materials furnished, and work done, and the amounts paid thereon.

Your Committee endeavored to adhere strictly to the resolutions of the Board, requiring all original bills for materials purchased to be presented before a monthly estimate could be approved, or payment made; which we submit will clearly appear by reference to the monthly estimates allowed; and on examination of the material and work yet to be furnished.

By the special contract for the extra work above designated, the principal contractor was to cause this extra material and work to be put in the building at actual cost, and without any profit to himself. In consideration of this proposition, the twenty per centum was not to be reserved, and hence we paid $600 on the contract in excess of the eighty per centum.

In the month of August, 1874, the contractor proposed to reduce his estimate of difference between stone and iron work on front portico from $1,600 to $500. Your Committee, deeming it very essential to the symmetry and general appearance of the building that this work should be of massive stone, according to the original plans of the designing architect, and believing that columns, balustrades, pilasters, and capitals of choice, solid stone would more than compensate us for the difference ($500) to be saved by erecting iron work instead of stone, a substitution agreed upon by the old Board, we agreed, therefore, to pay the contractor $500 extra, to furnish such stone work according to the original plans.

Your Committee, upon consideration of the original plans, found that the peculiar formation and design of the wood cornice therein designated, could not be properly executed in galvanized iron, which the old Board had substituted, as we were advised to reduce the cost of the work. In consequence of financial embarrassments and the want of labor for mechanics, our contractor advised us that this cornice, in the style of architecture presented, would ordinarily cost much more in wood than in iron, but could now be done for even less. While this matter was under consideration, your superintending architect advised us that, since the specifications do not contemplate upper and mansard stories, the framing for floor would be insufficient to give secure bracing for the support of so heavy a roof, and that unless a floor should be laid on the upper tier of joists the walls would be endangered ; hence he advised a heavy deafening floor to be laid in that story, at an estimated cost of $500.

In answer to the proposition of the contractor to change the cornice from iron to wood, we replied, that if he would put up said cornice according to original specifications, and lay the aforesaid floor without additional compensation, he might do so. To this he acceded, and the work has been done.

Your Committee, discovering that the main gutters at the foot of the mansard roof had been changed by our predecessors from copper to tin, a change by us deemed at variance with the best interests of the building, and as this guttering extended up to and under the mansard roof, we deemed it essential to have the most durable material, and we effected an arrangement with the contractor to put in copper, according to the original specifications ; this Board to pay the difference in the cost of materials. From the original bills we found the cost of copper to exceed that of tin $631.00, as shown by estimates.

Your Committee call your attention to the fact, that by the original contract, gas pipe, with the necessary mains, were to be placed in each story of the building for headlights, and a provision for all desired side lights and fixtures, the Board should pay the usual cost of such material and work. With the advice of our Superintending Architect and that of the Faculty, we designated the position and number of wall and side lights necessary. The contractor agreed to furnish all necessary material, and put in such extra gas pipe at 22½ cents per foot, making an aggregate of $147.15. Your Committee, fearing that lead pipe would be insufficient, being exposed to injury about the wash-basins, changed that for galvanized iron, which cost only about one-third as much ; the Board to be credited with the difference.

Your Committee, being advised by the Supervising Architect and others, in whose judgement we had confidence, that the down spouts from the roof of the main building were too small to carry off the water in violent rain storms, directed the contractor to increase the size from three inches to — inches, the Board to pay the difference in actual cost.

Your Committee, or its Chairman, agreed to have strips put around the walls of the four cloak rooms ; to extend the wainscoting down the main stairway from the first floor ; to lay pavingstone at the foot of the stairways ; to have a superior coat of plaster or cement put on the walls for blackboard. For this, and other extra work last named, we expect the Board to pay whatever is just whenever the same is ascertained, no estimates as yet having been made. It being necessary to the early completion of certain work, these small items were allowed to go in under that clause in the contract, authorizing the cost of extras to be fixed by the Building Committee and the Superintendent.

Generally throughout the building, under our Architect, we found the contractor putting in a great number of iron anchors, thus giving the walls great strength. In one instance, however, the Architect advised the addition of a strong anchor of bar iron from the main walls entirely around both towers in the first story, above the heavy belting course, which was accordingly added, at a cost of $20.00, as shown. The anchorage was most likely sufficient without this, in fact, the perfection now appearing in the work convinces us that it was, yet we felt that no one should have reason to doubt the stability of the structure, hence the small expenditure.

After the adjournment of our last annual meeting some bills for material furnished and work previously done upon other buildings, and upon contracts with the old Board of Trustees, were presented to your Committee. The largest of these bills was $489.89, for an armory, so erected and not paid for until November last. We also ordered paid some small sums for improvement of grounds, &c. These, however, all appear fully in the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer.

Before the discharge of the Superintending Architect, McKay, and while he was under the control of the old Board, changes were made from the plans and specifications that did not meet the approbation of your Committee, and in so far as the progress of the work did not prevent, your Committee directed our Superintendent to require the contractor to comply with the stipulation in his agreement, and to disregard orders given him by said McKay. In several particulars, however, the work had so far progressed that it could not be changed without a loss of many thousand dollars.

The iron columns were cast with ample strength, but one-fourth of an inch thinner than contracted for, the difference in the value of which, estimated at $160.00, the contractor agreed to pay, or credit to the Board.

The wooden columns in the mansard story were to have been of turned oak, but, as alleged, for want of suitable timber, and in order to make a better finish, the Superintendent allowed square, rough columns of yellow pine to be put in, without the knowledge of your Committee. The contractor readily offered to pay the difference in cost, as he stated those used were less expensive than those contracted for, but the difference has not yet been ascertained.

Under the direction of McKay, some of the basement joists were not placed as near each other as required in the contract, and by our permission, and that of our Superintendent, the corridor joists were reduced in thickness, being still abundantly strong, of yellow pine, two inches thick. For this gain the contractor was to account, but he put in a large amount of bridging extra, some extra joists in such parts of the basements as were not ready when our present Superintendent came into office; also extra joists under the water tanks, amounting, in the aggregate, to a small sum over the deduction made.

Another change made under the orders of Superintendent McKay was a reduction of about four inches in the width of a large proportion of the windows, and a reduction in height of many of them, making quite a difference in favor of the sub-contractor. It is claimed that this change was assented to by the Building Committee of the old Board, and while the proof is not perfectly conclusive, we believe such to have been the understanding, and as the basement windows were all in, we could but carry out this modified plan. We now submit to the Board whether or not we shall attempt to make the principal character liable in damages for this change.

Under the same direction, eight inch instead of fifteen inch drain pipes were put in (about three hundred feet), for which the contractor offers to allow $105.00 against himself, which has not yet been agreed to by your Committee, and hence submitted to you.

We have thought best not to place the water closets in the building, but the deduction to be made by reason of leaving them out has not been agreed upon, but, is referred to you for consideration and direction.

While there was a very large force at work on the building up to the month of ———, and the duties of the Superintendent were onerous, we continued him at the rate of $150.00 per month. Since that time the labor has not been so great, and we have paid him $100.00 per month. He lost some time by sickness, for which deduction was made, as will appear by exhibit of Secretary's book.

The contractor caused the iron girders to support one side of the upper part of the towers to be cast fourteen feet and ——— inches, according to the plans the Board furnished through the original Architect, which was three feet ——— inches short of what was required to span the perpendicular walls, and they were ordered recast and a powerful tension rod attached to give them the requisite length, and to make the strength beyond all question. The expense of recasting ($54.00) was paid by your Committee.

Your Committee have to report that all their drafts for estimates on materials, work, &c., as shown by the finance statement herein referred to, have been met by our Treasurer to this date:

The estimate for May has now been made, and the sum of $3,167.84 is now due the contractor. The Treasurer's report shows only $1,355.84 due the building fund with which to meet this estimate.

We are advised by the State Treasurer that there are

Nine U. S. bonds, costing.....	$ 11,026.52
U. S. currency.....	983.20

Amount belonging to A. I. U.	$ 12,009.72
-----------------------------------	--------------

with accrued interest, which he states were deposited by his predecessor in office with Stoddard Bro's, and for which he feels in no way responsible. As is well known, this firm has failed, and no part of said funds are available. In consequence of our inability to avail ourselves of these funds, we shall be unable to meet the monthly estimates as they fall due.

The contractor informs us that the whole of the work, and the materials necessary for the completion of the contract, have been "sub-let." To suspend the work now will greatly damage the contractor, and if the Board of Trustees fail to pay the estimates, as they fall due, he can not complete his contract. If, however, arrangements can be made to meet the eighty per cent. on these estimates, he will consummate the work before the time specified in the contract. It will require about $4,800.00 to enable us to pay the balance of the eighty per cent. on contract, Superintending Architect, and some few incidentals.

All of which is most respectfully submitted by your Committee.

L. GREGG, Chairman;

A. W. DINSMORE,

M. F. LAKE,

Building Committee.

The above report was subsequently referred to a select committee, which subsequently submitted the following report thereon:

Your Committee to whom was referred the report of the Building Committee, beg leave to report that they have carefully examined said report, and find it satisfactory. We believe they have diligently and faithfully carried out the orders of the Board, and worked in all things for the best interests of the University, and deserve the thanks of the Board. In the matters especially requiring our examination, we state that in every settlement for extra work, we believe they have had in view a just regard for the rights of the contractors as well as of the University. The changes made from the original contract we regard as proper, and the extra expenditure well made.

We regret that the condition of our finances would not justify their making still greater additions. In regard to the items for extra work unsettled, we must leave them to the superior wisdom and experience of the Building Committee and Superintending Architect, on the one part, and the well established generosity of the contractor on the other. Should the Committee find themselves unable to agree with the contractor, it might be well to submit such questions to the examination and arbitration of disinterested parties. This, of course, would apply only to matters of difference which arise under the old Board of Trustees.

In regard to the sum due the contractor on the monthly estimates, your Committee are of the opinion that the securities of the late State Treasurer will make every effort to pay us the amount necessary to meet this liability. We recommend that the Secretary write to the Governor, representing our condition, and urge upon him the importance of securing at least this sum.

Respectfully submitted.

D. E. JONES.

A. W. BISHOP.

W. E. THOMPSON,

Committee.

A letter was received from E. B. & W. B. Moore, making a proposition to print the Third Annual Report of the Arkansas Industrial University, to do the work as well and on as favorable terms, and for the same kind of compensation as paid last year, and look to the State for their pay.

On motion, it was ordered that the Secretary be authorized to contract with said parties upon such terms as might be agreed upon between them and the Auditor of State.

Secretary Dinsmore presented his report on the following accounts: Labor Account, Account with State Treasurer, Abstract of all Accounts, which were referred to the Committee on Finance.

Your Committee, to whom was referred the matter of establishing a Branch Normal College at some point east and south of Little Rock, in compliance with an act of the Legislature of 1873, appropriating $25,000 in State scrip, beg leave to report : That, owing to the unsettled condition of our State until quite a recent date, and the continued depreciation of State scrip, we have taken no steps to establish such College. We are of opinion, however, that it is now time that the attempt should be made to carry out the wishes of the Legislature, and recommend that a committee be appointed to take the necessary steps to establish a Branch Normal School, and that the location be temporarily at Pine Bluff, Jefferson county; and that the funds of the Branch Normal Department be held subject to the orders of the Chairman of said Committee for this purpose, that vouchers be kept for all moneys expended, and a report made to the Board of Trustees of all matters pertaining to said Normal Branch, at the next annual meeting, or oftener, if the Board should meet.

AFTER RECESS.

Present—J. M. Johnson, President pro tem., Gregg, Lake, Jones, Thompson and Dinsmore.

The following was submitted by Trustee Jones :

Resolved, That the thanks of this Board are due and are hereby tendered to the L. R. & F. S. Railway, and to the Stage Companies leading to Fayetteville for their courtesy and kindness in carrying students at reduced rates.

Which resolution was unanimously adopted by the Board.

The following was submitted by Trustee Bishop:

Resolved. That the President of the University be and he is hereby instructed to prepare a circular letter for distribution to the several County Judges of the State, setting forth the manner of appointment of beneficiaries, the number to which each County is entitled, and giving such other information as may be considered necessary or desirable in the premises.

The following was submitted by Trustee Gregg :

WHEREAS, The Building Committee of your Board has ascertained that the new University building can be completed with the sum of $5000 additional to the small amount of building funds now on hands—after the payment of our $100,000 the contract must stop without such aid. The suspension of the work at this juncture would prove exceedingly disastrous to all the interests of the University which now inspires its friends with so much hope and confidence ; and

WHEREAS, We have been advised that Hon. R. C. Newton, former State Treasurer caused, or suffered a deposit of some $12,000 of our building fund to be placed in the hands of Stoddard Bros.; and

WHEREAS, The State Treasurer, and the said ex-State Treasurer have failed to pay over any part of said sum : Therefore, Be it

Resolved. By this Board, that we most earnestly appeal to the said ex Treasurer and the securities upon his official bond to come to our speedy relief, by forwarding to our Secretary the sum of $5,000.00 currency, to enable the Board to complete the contract, and have the building ready for use by the commencement of next term. By this timely aid to your Building Committee and the gentlemanly contractors who are laboring earnestly and faithfully to carry out the contract and to do it well, we shall be able to secure an extension upon the twenty per cent reserved fund which falls due upon the completion of the building.

Adopted.

The following resolutions were introduced by Trustee Gregg :

Resolved. That the Treasurer of this Board demand of the Treasurer of State and ex-Treasurer R. C. Newton all of the money and United States bonds ever placed in the treasury of the State by or for the Arkansas Industrial University.

Resolved further, That if all sums of money or United States bonds to which said University is entitled are not paid over to the Treasurer of this Board upon such demand, that our Executive Committee be and are hereby authorized and instructed to take such action as they may deem proper to recover said funds.

Adopted.

On motion of Trustee Bishop, it was ordered that the distribution of public printing shall be left with the Executive Committee.

The Treasurer presented his account of interest in Washington county and Fayetteville bonds. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

On motion of Trustee Bishop, the Secretary was ordered to issue

To the Board of Trustees of the Arkansas Industrial University :

Your Committee respectfully report that subsequently to the last annual session of the Board of Trustees, they duly elected under the power vested in them, Col O. C. Gray, A. M., late President of St John's college, as professor of Mathematics and Civil Engineering, and Professor James Mitchell, A. B., late of Cane Hill college as professor of History and English Literature, and employed Professor W. D. C. Botefuhr as teacher of German for one term. After the death of Professor T. L. Thompson, which sad event took place on the 3d of February last, it became necessary to employ students to some extent to aid the teaching force of the University. This teaching was confined mainly to the Preparatory department, and was successfully done. Your Committee further report that their principal duty during the year has been the auditing and ordering the payments of the current accounts against the University, all of which so far as your committee are advised have been acted upon, and when reasonable and just, have been paid.

A. W. BISHOP.

Chairman Ex. Com.

L. GREGG.

A. W. DINSMORE,

J. M. JOHNSON.

On motion, the report was approved and adopted.

The preamble and resolutions were adopted.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT
ARKANSAS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY,
FAYETTEVILLE, ARK., June 19th, 1875. }

To the Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Arkansas Industrial University.

SIR: I beg leave to submit, for the consideration and action of the Board of Trustees, a brief resume of the operations of my department during the collegiate year ending June 19th, 1875; also some recommendations suggested by my experience, for increasing its efficiency.

There has been an average attendance for military instruction, of one hundred and forty students. Only three or four have been permanently excused from military duty, and these, only by reason of physical disability. Of the aggregate in attendance, about one hundred and twenty have been enrolled, forming the three companies of the battalion. The remainder, consisting of boys too small to bear arms, have been instructed in the principles of setting-up and marching. For this class the rules and regulations were relaxed, and drill has been considered more of an exercise than an acquirement.

The cadets have attained fair proficiency in the school of the company, and have received some instruction in battalion drill. I am not satisfied with the progress made but I consider it due to circumstances outside of my department, and over which I had no control. I have not been able to attain a high standard of discipline. The cadets have learned to some extent, the necessity of subordination, but in the higher order of discipline they are deficient. They lack habits of order, neatness, thoroughness and zeal. These virtues I have sought to inculcate, but the adverse influences manifested in the general management of the school neutralized my efforts.

The published regulations for the government of the military department, have, in the main, been carried out. The Faculty have given me much assistance, and, when the occasion demanded it, prompt support.

Since the 1st of March, cadets absent from, or late at roll-call and having no satisfactory excuse therefor, have been punished by drill on other than drill days and out of school hours. The Faculty authorized the measure upon my recommendation. I do not like the plan. It has proved entirely efficacious, but the natural tendency is to bring drill into disrepute. Demerits have been given previous to the institution of this punishment, but there was no disgrace or inconvenience attending these and they utterly failed to prevent the willful evasion of duty. Some other system was necessary and I reluctantly proposed punishment drill. I think the college laws should cover all cases of misdemeanor occurring in my department; but there is no virtue in law, when the penalties for infraction are not enforced.

Theoretical instruction in tactics has been given the officers and non-commissioned officers of the battalion, as the advance in drill demanded it. Lectures have been given on drill days throughout the year, when the weather prevented out-door military exercises, and twice a week, in lieu of drill, during the sickly season of the winter term. These lectures embraced the subjects of discipline, army organization, strategy, tactics and the operations of war from the time of Frederick to the present day.

Of the one hundred and twenty cadets enrolled, only about one-sixth have provided themselves with uniform. About one-half wear the cap. I would respectfully recommend that all male students subject to military duty be required to provide themselves with uniforms the coming year. They can be procured at Fayetteville at the following rates: Dress coat, $22 00; sack coat, $18 00; pants, 10 00; cap, $1 25. The sack coat is more serviceable, and better adapted for general wear. It is to be preferred, when both cannot be obtained, to the dress coat. These articles of uniform can be procured in New York, ready made, fifty per cent. cheaper. At this rate, they cost no more than ordinary citizen's clothing, and are much more durable. The adoption of a uniform would have a tendency to foster neatness, individual self-respect and good order.

During the past year there have been two military exercises each week. This is not sufficient time to acquire any very great proficiency in drill, nor is it sufficient to develop a healthy interest among the cadets. Proficiency in drill, however, is neither the only or best result of military instruction. It is a powerful means of physical culture. It develops muscle and tends to a more correct deportment than any other exercise that can be adopted for a school. It generates habits of just subordination and manly self-control. It teaches the necessity of punctuality and faithfulness in the discharge of duty.

At least three hours a week should be devoted to practical military instruction. As cadets are required at all times to have their muskets and accoutrements in good order and condition, it is necessary that time be allowed for cleaning up. In view of all this I would respectfully ask that I be allowed one hour four days of the week for the purpose of drill and discipline.

With an armory next year capable of holding in military formation, 150 to 200 men, I hope to secure more uniformity of instruction, and to attain thereby much greater proficiency. In addition to the regular exercises, practical and theoretical, compulsory with all cadets, I propose to organize classes for instruction in the bayonet exercise, and the use of the sword. The basement in the South wing of the new building would be the best room for the armory. The noise could not penetrate from thence to the disturbance of students at other occupations throughout the building, and the South basement is more dry and light than the other, I would therefore recommend that it be finished off and appropriately fitted up as an armory.

I would also respectfully suggest the advisability of having a large parade ground immediately in front of the University building. It could be seen from all parts of the town, and a fine lawn would form a pleasing foreground and exhibit to the best advantage the new building. the grounds surrounding the parade might be laid off and decorated with trees, shrubs, etc., etc.

I am,

Very Respectfully,

Your Obedient Servant,

EDWIN S. CURTIS,

First Lieut. 2d Arty.,

Farm Report.

After the death of Prof. T. L. Thompson, Superintendent of Farm, Mr. John H. Bell, a student of the University, was employed by the Board of Trustees to take charge and general management of the farm. It is but due to Mr. Bell to say that he has performed his trust with fidelity, and the condition of the growing crop, the orchard and grounds will attest his faithfulness and diligence. The following is his Report:

ARKANSAS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY, }
FAYETTEVILLE, August 15, 1875. }

To the Board of Trustees Arkansas Industrial University:

In compliance with your request, I herewith transmit my report of the University farm since March 1st, 1875, the date on which I took charge.

In front of the University building, about the last of March, some twenty acres were sown in Kentucky blue grass, but on account of the lateness of the season and the dry weather which followed, it cannot be considered a success. We have about twenty acres of corn, which, although planted late, is in fine condition, and promises an abundant yield. About the middle of March we received from Washington, packages of oats, clover and rye grass, together with packages of garden seeds. The oats and grass proved a failure, but the clover is remarkably fine. There are now growing in the garden, beets, peas, onions, beans, carrots, parsnips, cabbages, tomatoes, cucumbers and other vegetables, most of which are doing well. The orchard is in fine condition—many of the trees bending under the load of choice fruit. The following are some of the varieties of apples now bearing in the University orchard: Belle Flower, Yellow June, Red June, Winesap, Shannon Pippin, Philadelphia Graft, Early Harvest, Maiden Blush, &c. From the high character of this region as a fruit country, and the excellent quality of the fruit produced in our orchard, it would seem to be a move in the right direction to enlarge our orchard by planting varieties not now in use, as well as planting small fruits. Would it not be well to plant cherries, plums, strawberries, raspberries, currants, &c.? Near the University farm as fine grapes of the different varieties are found as are to be seen anywhere within the limits of the United States. No one who has seen the profusion of wild grapes everywhere in Northwest Arkansas, can doubt that this is the home of the grape. I know of nothing that can be undertaken with more certainty of success in this country, than the culture of the grape. I would recommend the planting of a small vineyard during the coming year.

I would also recommend the following additional improvements, most or all of which can be made by students' labor, and at a comparatively small expense: The laying off of the farm into sections by means of cross-fencing; the clearing of some timbered land, so that we may begin the cultivation of the grasses; the thorough grassing of the grounds south of the University; the ornamentation of the grounds in front by planting trees, shrubs, &c., and the establishment of permanent exterior fencing, using the rails for cross-fencing.

During the spring months a large force of students was engaged in taking up trees and stumps around the new building. (The trees were made into rails.) Beside this work, there was a quantity of rubbish to be removed from about the building, such as rocks, timber, brick, &c., which employed our force for some time.

I present herewith a statement of debits and credits for the months beginning with September, 1874, and ending with June, 1875:

FAREWELL ADDRESS,

DELIVERED BY

PRESIDENT A. W. BISHOP,

UPON RETIRING FROM THE PRESIDENCY OF THE ARKANSAS
INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY.

Gentlemen of the Board of Trustees, and Ladies and Gentlemen:

On the sixth of March last I tendered my resignation as President and Treasurer of this University, to take effect at the close of the present term. Even a year ago, when the salaries of the members of the Faculty were reduced from fifteen to twenty-five per cent, I was led to the contemplation of this matter, but as that reduction seemed inevitable for the time being, in consequence of the political complications in the State, which had seriously impaired the finances of the University, I submitted to the situation, as did my co-laborers, without a murmur or a protest. In my individual case, however, it was a wide departure from the terms upon which I had agreed, six months before, to come here, and for this reason, and those of a private nature, I subsequently tendered my resignation, as I have indicated. To that tender I have since adhered, and I sever now my connection with this institution. By the new Board of Trustees, as well as the old, I have been cordially treated and fully sustained, and I close my official intercourse with them with a profound sense of kindness and regard. From my associates in the Faculty I part with peculiar regret. We have been bound together by a common toil. We have known no kinship with sinecures. Early and late, I do not consider it improper for me to say, we have labored for the upbuilding of this young institution, and three hundred and fifty students who have been gathered within yonder walls during the past twelve months, must attest with what success. For myself, I leave the verdict to them, expressing only the regret that the appliances that every educational institution of the kind should have, have been so meager and unsatisfactory.

To the students I likewise say a reluctant farewell. We came together mainly strangers. We part quite well acquainted. I gradually came to know you; to see the unfolding of form and mind; the tireless industry of one; the quick perception of another, the easy grace or manly bearing of others still, and I may add the mischievous tendencies of others yet again, types of a class who, since school rooms were known and school masters dominated the situation, have apparently lived but to personify annoyance, and illustrate original sin. With all, however, I part in kindness, bespeaking for every one a future whose hope shall grow into fruition, and the promise of to-day into the sustained performance of active, well ordered and successful lives.

I come now to the present condition of this University, and here I propose to say nothing except with a view to its ultimate good, its permanent prosperity, for as a citizen of the State I shall always interest myself, as far as I may be able, in its advancement. It is the germ of a new existence for Arkansas, and the struggling plant must not be permitted to wither or droop, much less die. This magnificent edifice just unfolding its possibilities, and growing now into permanent form, through the steady industry of well directed labor, must not stand an embodiment of desolation, but with corridors thronged with students; halls resounding with the echoes of earnest voices; pillar and architrave proudly bearing up apparatus and library, cabinet and museum; pavilion and tower all aglow with the light of science and the myriad forms of attractive art, must verily become not only the one overshadowing object for miles around, but conspicuous as a temple of learning, where the State even, can gather strength, and the Nation look approvingly upon one of the outgrowths of the beneficent act of 1862. Nature has well disposed the site. The munificence of the general government has made the edifice possible, now let the State furnish and embellish it. The county of Washington and town of Fayetteville have contracted to do all that can or should be expected of them, but they are not the body politic of Arkansas. The State at large has a deep and abiding interest in the University, and it is as solemn a duty on its part to adequately maintain it, as it is to pay the salaries of the officers who administer its government.

The legislature of 1866-7 accepted the grant of land and land scrip from the general government, authorized by the act of Congress of July 2, 1862, "To provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanical arts," and now it is simply called upon to perform that part of the contract, which it then engaged to perform.

The legislature of the State at its last session made a most unfortunate mistake in this regard. It gave nothing for current expenses, when there should have been appropriated at least the equivalent of ten thousand dollars in currency per annum for the two years expiring June 30, 1877. That body did indeed make an appropriation of ten thousand dollars in scrip to complete the building and to purchase stoves and other heating apparatus therefor, but even this sum was inadequate, and should have been doubled to accomplish the object sought, and I say this with the poverty of the State full in view. I am cognizant also, as are we all, of the tribulation through which the State has passed within the last eighteen months. I know how poor she is, but if in the re-habilitation of Arkansas there is any one interest for the nurture and support of which every nerve should be strained and every dollar expended, which within reasonable limits it is possible to obtain, that interest is the educational development of the State, and whose radiating centre should be the State University.

We yearn for immigration. We hunger after capital. We long to see these hills and valleys instinct with higher life; to hear the roar of the swiftly passing train, to listen to the music of the spindle and the loom; to see God in the superior works of his children, and many wonder why the tide that for years has been sweeping over the Northwest, fructifying all that it touched, does not set this way. It never will until the education of the people is put in the fore front of effort and expenditure, and the State pursues a liberal policy with its public institutions. If extravagance is bad, and it is, parsimony is worse. From the former you can recover. Out of the latter comes no hope. The one is an evil, the other is a curse. The one does something, if it does it partly wrong. The other does nothing at all, for parsimony is always below the level of efficiency, struggle as it will, and the poor instructor, be he president, professor or what not, who is caught in its toils, will go shuffling through life a careworn and dependent man, and measurably inefficient, while the fault was not his own. And it will be a sad day for this University, if that day comes, when from inefficient financial support, it shall be compelled to lapse into a high school. What we have been laboring so far to establish here, is not simply a College, but a University. What the government of the United States expects to see is at least a College. What it *demand*s, by reason of the acceptance of the gift, is a College—a College of agriculture and the mechanic arts, but where other scientific and classical studies are not excluded, and with nothing less than this will it be satisfied.

I have great confidence in the present Executive of the State, and who is also President of the Board of Trustees of this University, and I believe he will do everything in his power, and so will his co-laborers on the Board, to maintain this institution upon the high plane of its conception. What we need is money, and the practical thing to be done is to get it from the legislature when it sits next November. Nor do I believe that the effort to do so will be futile. At the last session many members were hampered and embarrassed by promises to their constituents to do everything as economically as possible, and in this regard they may have voted as they would not again. I believe they have the welfare of the State at heart, and desire its advancement. The question is one of means and ends, and it is no easy thing, with a bankrupt treasury staring at you, to wisely adapt the one to the other. Let us then hope for the best, and the University's financial distress may pass away within the year.

I come now to another subject of serious import to this institution and this community. On the second day of February, 1874, the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on education and labor is hereby instructed to enquire into the condition and management of the agricultural and other colleges which have received grants from the United States under the act of July 2, 1872, and the acts in addition thereto; also to enquire in regard to the investment and security of the funds of these institutions, and whether their management is in accordance with the Constitution and Laws of the United States, and the condition of the aforesaid grants."

In pursuance of this resolution a circular letter was sent to the presidents of all the colleges organized as this has been, and those officers were to respond to it as promptly as their convenience and the preparation of the necessary information would permit. The general scope, progress and management of these institutions were enquired about, and particularly the disposition made of the proceeds of the sale of the agricultural college scrip, donated by the general government. I reported in behalf of this institution, and on the 13th day of January, 1875, the committee made its report to Congress, the substance of which was, that the Attorney General was requested to report to the House of Representatives what measures, if any, should be taken by the United States to secure from any State the fulfillment of its contract to preserve undiminished the principal of the fund derived from the grant of land made by the United States for the support of colleges of agriculture and the mechanic arts, and whether in his judgment the provisions of existing laws were sufficient to afford a remedy in the premises. A resolution embodying this was adopted, to which the Attorney General replied, that he knew of no remedy except that in cases where the United States are indebted to any State, which has suffered the fund to become diminished, and has failed to replace it, payment of the whole or a corresponding amount of the debt might be withheld until the unpaid fund be made good.

Arkansas is in this category for the government of the United States owes her a large sum of money, which she is endeavoring to obtain, and certainly it could not be paid at a more opportune time for the State is in the very throes of financial agony, and all the wit and wisdom of her citizens will be needed to extricate her from the fearful embarrassments that are bearing her down.

By the act of Congress of July 2, 1862, it is provided that all money derived from the sale of land and land scrip contemplated by this act, shall be invested in stocks of the United States, or of the State, on some other safe stocks, yielding not less than five per centum upon the par value of said stocks, and that the moneys so invested shall constitute a perpetual fund, the capital of which shall remain forever undiminished, and the interest of which shall be inviolably appropriated by each State, which may take and claim the benefit of the said act, and it was further provided that no portion of the said fund, nor the interest thereon, should be applied directly or indirectly, under any pretense whatever, to the purchase, erection, preservation or repair of any building or buildings.

Now, what is the connection of all this with the Arkansas Industrial University? Bear with me while I endeavor to tell. The old Board of Trustees thought it a matter of great importance that the permanent building of the University should be erected at the earliest feasible moment. The Agricultural College scrip to which the State was entitled had been sold at ninety cents per acre—a very advantageous sale for the University. The net proceeds to be employed as an endowment were $121,500, and there were two courses to pursue, either to purchase government bonds at a premium, or to place this sum of money in the bonds of the county of Washington and town of Fayetteville—$130,000 in all—which the University then held, and thus making those securities, which ran thirty years, and bore interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, the permanent endowment of the University. The latter course was adopted, and this money was placed in those bonds at 93½ cents on the dollar, a rate adapted and intended so to be, to the exact absorption of the money in the bonds. There was a precedent for this proceeding in the course pursued in the building of the Illinois Industrial University, and although the expedient may look like a device for steering very closely to the wind, and appear to be a violation of even an express provision of the act of 1862, it is not so regarded by the general government, and no trouble will ever arise from this source, if the people of Washington county promptly pay the interest on these bonds. If they do not pay it, there will be trouble, embarrassment, a rigid investigation, and other very serious hindrances to the growth of the University, that I do not care to contemplate, and I specially allude to this matter now, not alone for the purpose of showing how important it is that the interest on these bonds should be paid exactly when and as it accrues, but because the Legislature of the State at its last session passed an act in relation to the extension of time for the payment of taxes, which, as one of its consequences, is resulting in the failure, unavoidable so far as the sheriff is concerned, to make a full and prompt collection of this interest. I have faith to believe, that in 1876 the deficiency that now exists will be made good, and if it is, all will be well at Washington. The government does not object to the fact that local bonds are the form that the endowment has taken. It only insists that the interest on these bonds shall be promptly and regularly paid.

Washington county has secured the location of this University. All honor to the enterprise of her citizens for that. But her watchfulness has just begun. It will avail very little simply to have even so magnificent an edifice as this. The building alone will never justify the builders. It must be armed cap-a-pie, and stand fully equipped with all the paraphernalia and devices of intellectual war. It must crown this hill, not with the solemn grandeur of a barren conception, or with that order of education that culminates in an academy or high school, but with the training of the college and university, and especially with that distinctive order of culture which we know as proficiency in the knoweldge of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts.

There is need also, let me say, for constant vigilance on the part of the citizens of Washington county, to hold this institution up to the demands of its conception. There is the same amount of interest to be paid on the bonds, whether there are one hundred students here, or five hundred, and whether those students pay out annually in Fayetteville, ten thousand dollars, or fifty thousand.

In adversity or prosperity, in growth or decay, the obligation is the same, and surely every intelligent citizen must see the great importance of the most complete harmony of action in stimulating the growth of that which is, or should be, the dominant interest of the town of Fayetteville, and a source of profit also to the county at large. There should grow up here the spirit so conspicuously seen in the older University towns of the country, and around professor and student should never cease to be thrown the genial and inspiring influences, that tell them that even the boys in the streets are their friends, and that the town at all times and under all circumstances is a unit when the welfare of the University is at stake.

But, passing from the town and county to the State, or rather including all three, there is another subject of great moment for future consideration. Not to enter into details, I refer to what is known as the "Morrill Bill," a proposed act of Congress that contemplates the appropriation of a portion of the net proceeds of the sales of the public lands to this institution and others similarly endowed. The principal sum that Arkansas would receive, if this bill were to pass, would bring to this University an income of at least $20,000 a year, and with proper effort this much desired consummation may yet be brought about. Kentucky, especially through Dr. Bowman, President of the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Ashland, is particularly active in this matter. The Agricultural Colleges of a number of the other States have also had their representatives at Washington whenever needed or thought to be. The Agricultural Congress of the country is committed to the support of some such measure. The Congress of the United States itself seems, regardless of party, disposed to give this revenue, in some form to the cause of education, and if the States shall earnestly unite their efforts, trustees and legislatures moving together in hearty accord, the grand object will be accomplished. Then indeed will this University be placed above all casualty and all solicitude, and not alone will gather here the youth of the State, but Texas, Southwest Missouri and that princely domain just beyond us, which in the immediate future is destined to put on the garb of sisterhood, can reasonably be expected to send here many of their youth to receive that higher education, which the advanced statesmen of the country have been laboring for fifteen years to make general in the land.

One other point and I am done. The act of Congress under which this University has been organized, specially provides that the order of institution to be established, shall be one, which, without excluding other sciences, and including military tactics, shall have as its leading object, the teaching of such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts. In this vital matter the Arkansas Industrial University has not come up to the statute, and there are reasons why hitherto it has been unable to do so. That so far these reasons have been regarded as good and sufficient at Washington, can safely be said. The State has been in an abnormal and disturbed condition for a considerable portion of the period that has elapsed since the University was founded.

The general status of education in Arkansas has also been and still is such, that the demand made upon the University by the youth of the State has been for the usual collegiate or preparatory training, and again our means have been inadequate to develop that special feature of the law, without which the University loses the distinctive feature that Congress intended to give it. Twice have I annually stated the case to the Commissioner of Agriculture, and he has responded that my reports were satisfactory. This delay, however, to bring the study of agriculture and the mechanic arts into the prominence that the law demands, must cease now at the earliest possible moment. It should be made one of the chief objects of official concern—the paramount object in fact—to organize the school of agriculture and furnish facilities for instruction in a practical knowledge of the mechanic arts. It is a very grave question how much longer the General Government will be satisfied with apologies. It will soon look for the profits of its endowment, and they must be forthcoming.

What is being accomplished is not in itself unsatisfactory, but it does not come up to the measure of just expectancy, and now in this time of State elation, and when enlarged ideas of the province of government are so necessary to be diffused throughout the body politic; when an advanced conception of agriculture should seize the farmer mind; and the mechanic arts have the sway that characterizes them in the North and East, let the citizens of the State see to it, that here, where the germ of a great power has taken root, the industrial classes can receive that education which a munificent Congress specially designed for them. And as the scroll of the future is unrolled, and the quickened intelligence of the farmer and mechanic sees in science its strongest bulwark and surest defense, Arkansas, with her great natural advantages will step well to the front in the array of States, and out of the Southwest will go a voice heard through the land,

SING UNTO THE LORD A NEW SONG, FOR HE HATH DONE MARVELOUS THINGS.

Branch Normal College

OF THE

ARKANSAS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY.

This institution, established by act of the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas, approved July 25, 1873, and located in the city of Pine Bluff, has commenced operation, and has now (September 1875) opened for the reception of students. Its object is to afford the colored teachers of the State the requisite opportunity and training to fit them for performing the important duties efficiently and successfully, and free tuition is, therefore, given to such as may apply for admission upon their signing a pledge obligating themselves to teach for a term of at least two years in the public schools of the State. In connection with the Normal school proper, a preparatory department is attached, which may be attended by such youth as may be enabled after one years tuition, to enter the Normal school. The school in its term of sessions, course of study, discipline, etc., will conform to those of the Industrial University at Fayetteville, and is under the management of the Board of Trustees of that institution, the first term of each year beginning on the first Monday in September.

Students will be expected to conform in all respects to the rules of the institution, in avoiding improper places and associations, in observing proper study hours, and in general, conducting themselves in a genteel manner, otherwise they will not be permitted to remain in the institution. The building now occupied by the school is situated in one of the most eligible localities in the city of Pine Bluff, in the immediate vicinity of the Synagogue, Episcopal church, and public school buildings. It affords accommodations for over one hundred students, with ample grounds and suitable out-buildings attached, is well lighted and ventilated, making it one of the most pleasant and commodious school buildings in the State. Such additions and improvements will be made from time to time as may be found necessary or desirable.

Pine Bluff, the site of the institution, is a thriving city of about three thousand five hundred inhabitants, situated on the Arkansas river in the cotton belt of the State, and not far from the geographical center of the colored population. In its recent progress in educational matters it is rivaled by but few cities in the State or country. It is accessible from all parts of the State by the Arkansas river, the P. B. L. R. & N. O. railroad, and Arkansas Valley stage line. The prospect of an early railroad connection with Little Rock is good. Board, lodging, books and stationery may be obtained in the city on reasonable terms. It is desirable that all who contemplate attending the school should enter at the opening of the term, as classes will not be formed at other times.

To the Teachers of Arkansas.

We shall be glad to have the address of every teacher in Arkansas, that we may send to each a copy of our Catalogue. Teachers coming to Fayetteville are cordially invited to visit the University for the purpose of examining our methods of instruction, as well as the true condition and practical workings of the institution in all its departments.

It is earnestly hoped that a better understanding between the Faculty and the teachers of the State may lead to more satisfactory results in the preparation of students for the work which will be required of them in the University. We have met in the past no greater annoyance or more serious obstacle to both teacher and student, than the irregular, immethodical and partial training of our pupils. Students are allowed to take irregular and fragmentary courses, forgetful of the fact that it leads to great trouble and annoyance in classification, as well as to narrow and imperfect culture. If, for instance, the student desires to enter the Freshman class of the Classical Department, let him pursue such studies, and such alone, as shall, upon their completion, admit him to this class. If he desires to enter the College of Commerce, or to take the Engineering Course, let his preparation conform so far as possible, to the requirements of these courses. Candidates for the Normal Department of the University will observe the requirements for admission to this Department, and govern themselves accordingly. We appeal to all the teachers in the State to come to our assistance in breaking up the irregularities of training, and establishing the benefits of order, method and system in preliminary instruction.

TRANSPORTATION.

Students desiring to attend the University, can by applying to Hon. Dudley E. Jones, Little Rock, or to Prof. James Mitchell, Secretary, at Fayetteville, obtain certificates which will entitle them to travel at half fare over the

MEMPHIS AND LITTLE ROCK RAILWAY;
LITTLE ROCK AND FORT SMITH RAILWAY;
ARKANSAS VALLEY STAGE LINE,

From Pine Bluff to Little Rock, and from Fort Smith to Altus.

Fare from Altus to Fayetteville, round trip.....	$9 00
Fare from Altus to Fayetteville, one way.....	5 00

Parties applying by letter will be particular in specifying the route they wish to travel.

Said Trustees shall each receive two dollars and fifty cents for each day necessarily consumed on duty as such Trustees, payable as above provided for.

SEC. 14. The State of Arkansas, for the use of said University, shall have a right of action against any and all persons who may commit trespass against or upon any of the property or effects of said University or upon the breach of any covenant, contract or promise made with said School Board or any sub committee or agent appointed by such Board, proceedings may be prosecuted by the Prosecuting Attorney of the district, or such counsel as may be employed under the direction of said Board; and if sued all the law officers of the State shall, free of charge, defend said Board, their committees or agents, in all matters growing out of acts done in connection with the business of said University.

SEC. 15. All things necessary to be had or done to carry this act into full force and effect, and to completely organize and put in full operation the University herein provided for, and not specially named herein, shall be done by or under the direction of said Board of Trustees, and they and their committees and agents shall keep full accounts of all expenditures; and the President of said Board, in his biennial report to the Governor, shall fully set forth the advancement and condition of the University, the extent of the real estate, improvements, and other property owned by it, and a detailed account of all expenditures made by such Board, or under its direction, in reference to any and all business connected with said University, and shall recommend such further legislation as the interest of the institution may require.

A majority of said Trustees shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a less number may adjourn from time to time and send for absent members; Provided, If said Trustees shall fail to accept the positions herein tendered them, or if a vacancy should otherwise occur, when the Legislature is not in session, the same shall be filled by the Governor by appointment.

SEC. 19. It is made the duty of each of said Trustees herein designated to attend a board meeting at the University buildings, near Fayetteville, on the last Thursday in June, eighteen hundred and seventy-four (1874,) and they shall meet at said place annually thereafter; and they shall have power to hold adjourned meetings, when the business of the University actually requires it, or the President of the Board may call a meeting of the Board when he is satisfied the interests of the University require it, or when five members of the Board petition him so to do.
